Petition in support of the

California Homemade Food Act, AB 1616

In a nutshell, AB 1616 empowers people to sell non-potentially hazardous foods that are made in their own home kitchen, without all the extra costs and red tape associated with commercial kitchens. Non-potentially hazardous foods include breads and other baked goods, jams, jellies, dried cereal, nut mixes, dried herbs, dried fruit, honey, roasted coffee and other similar foods that do not require refrigeration or heating before serving. This is an important step that California can take--as 31 other US states already have--to support local food economies. This petition is being circulated by three nonprofit organizations; the Sustainable Economies Law Center, the Los Angeles Bread Bakers and Proyecto Jardin. Read more at www.cottagefood.org.

Including your email address—neatly printed—will help us keep you informed on more ways to support the campaign through very occasional email alerts. We will not sell or give your email address to anyone else.
