

The Raise the Rate for Good campaign is a community of people who are fighting for everyone to be able to cover the basics like rent, medical care, and bills, including while they're going through tough times, studying, or caring for their health, loved ones or communities.

Our goal is to fix the social security safety net because right now, the social safety net has some pretty huge holes in it. Millions of people are left struggling below the poverty line because income support payments are painfully inadequate. JobSeeker Payment is just $50 a day and Youth Allowance is even less.

Together we are fighting to lift income support payments above the poverty line.

RaiseTheRate.org.au

Raise the Rate for Good is supported by the Australian Council of Social Service (ACOSS). ACOSS is a national advocate for action to reduce poverty and inequality and the peak body for the community services sector in Australia.