Q1 Abortion profiteers in schools - Groups that perform or promote abortion, such as Planned Parenthood, should not be permitted to teach sex education in the public schools.

Agree,

Comments - :
 Currently PP is not approved to provide or present information, by ASD health dept policy, all guests are prohibited in elementary school human growth and development. Delivery can only be by certified health teacher specialist.

Q2 Inappropriate use of school district resources - No school district resources—including personnel such as school nurses—should be utilized in the provision of abortion or contraception to students, including by way of referral.

Agree

Q3 Parental rights to direct child’s education - A parent has the right to object to and withdraw her child from any activity, class, performance standard, test, assessment, or program that the parent believes is harmful to the child.

Agree

Q4 Written parental permission before sex education classes - The written permission of a parent or guardian should be required before a student participates in any activity, class, or program that includes content involving human sexuality and reproduction – that is, parents should be required to “opt in” their child for such instruction, as opposed to a mere “opt out” provision.

Agree,

Comments - :
 Current policy

Q5 Sexual risk avoidance - When sex education is taught in public schools, it should be based on a “sexual risk avoidance” (SRA) methodology that teaches students the benefits of refraining from non-marital sexual activity, and which teaches that “risk avoidance” is superior to mere “risk reduction.” (For more information, see <https://www.frc.org/SexualRiskAvoidance>)

Q6 Protection of privacy in intimate facilities - The Anchorage School District should protect the privacy and dignity of students by requiring that certain intimate facilities—such as locker rooms, showers, changing rooms, and restrooms—be designated for and used exclusively by persons of the same biological sex.

Agree,

Comments - :

Privacy should be a paramount concern for all students.

Q1 Abortion profiteers in schools - Groups that perform or promote abortion, such as Planned Parenthood, should not be permitted to teach sex education in the public schools.

Agree,

Comments - :

We already have great teachers in our district who can effectively cover these subjects.

Q2 Inappropriate use of school district resources - No school district resources—including personnel such as school nurses—should be utilized in the provision of abortion or contraception to students, including by way of referral.

Undecided,

Comments -:

I'm not quite sure what type of situation this question is covering. I'm also not sure what age group this is referring to. (Only High School?)

Q3 Parental rights to direct child's education - A parent has the right to object to and withdraw her child from any activity, class, performance standard, test, assessment, or program that the parent believes is harmful to the child.

Agree

Disagree,

Comments - :

I absolutely think that parents should easily be able to opt out, and that the district should be much better than they are now at letting parents know when those sensitive subjects will be taught. The administrative burden of requiring an opt is too great.

Q5 Sexual risk avoidance - When sex education is taught in public schools, it should be based on a “sexual risk avoidance” (SRA) methodology that teaches students the benefits of refraining from non-marital sexual activity, and which teaches that “risk avoidance” is superior to mere “risk reduction.” (For more information, see <https://www.frc.org/SexualRiskAvoidance>)

Agree,

Comments - :

As a parent of three kids in our district, I think it's important to do our best to make every child feel safe and comfortable in school. I think students who aren't comfortable going in the locker room or bathroom based on their biological sex should work with the principal and staff to come up with an acceptable solution on an individual basis.
