Primary Goal

The primary goal is to improve the diets of low- and middle-income children and families.

Need for Fresh Produce

A primary need exists in Dane County for more fresh produce—citizens, restaurants, schools, hospitals, and businesses. UW-Extension surveys report “only 23% of Wisconsin adults and 20% of high school students consumed the recommended five or more fruit and vegetables per day.” While influences on consumer food choices are complex, it is clear not everyone has the same opportunities to “access and choose healthy foods.” In addition, a hard trend exists for an increasing consumer demand for fresh produce certified as organic.
