

What Would Jesus Do?

Memory Verse | You shall love your neighbor as yourself.
- Mark 12:31

Joshua was on his way to visit his friend, Brandon. Three big boys who were teasing and pushing each other came along. One of them bumped into Joshua and knocked him down. Joshua skinned his knee on the rough pavement and bumped his head. It hurt and he began to cry.

At that moment, Bruce, who lived on the same block, raced by on his bike. He saw Joshua crying but he didn't think of stopping because he was on his way to church to his Cub Scout meeting. A player from the city baseball team was coming to talk about baseball and Bruce didn't want to be late.

Right after Bruce raced by, Mark came along. He went to Joshua's Sunday School and had learned many Bible verses, even some about love and kindness. Mark didn't stop to help Joshua either. He hardly even noticed Joshua crying. He was too busy to stop, he was on his way to the store.

Then a new boy, Ramón, came along. He had just moved into the neighborhood. Most of the children didn't talk or play with Ramón. When he saw Joshua crying, he stopped and asked, "What's wrong? Can I help you?" He checked Joshua's skinned knee and helped him up. "We'll have your mom wash and bandage your knee, then you will be alright," he said.
