Recognition and Commitment

We recognise Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander People as the traditional custodians of the land on which we live and work and acknowledge that sovereignty of the land we call Australia has never been ceded. We commit to listening to and learning from Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people about how we can better reflect Indigenous ways of being and knowing in our work.

CAHA is on its own journey to best understand how we can bring this commitment to life. We have taken a few initial steps and are pleased to welcome more Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander organisations to CAHA in the last year. We have much listening and learning to do as part of our journey.

The Climate and Health Alliance is Australia's national peak body on climate and health

CAHA is a coalition of over 100 health and medical groups, academic and research institutions, health care service providers and unions.

Our mission is to build a powerful health sector movement for climate action and sustainable healthcare.

The health sector is Australia's largest employer, and health professionals are the most trusted members of our community.

By working together, the health sector can lead action on climate to protect our health.

We know that climate change directly damages our health, including through harm from heat, air pollution, loss of food security, and the propagation of diseases.

The Public Health Association of Australia values CAHA's role in helping the health sector and the wider public understand the links between climate change and health, and what actions we can take.

What we do

CAHA brings the health sector together to act on climate and health through:

Leadership

activating health institutions as powerful advocates for change

Recognition

building public support by communicating climate health impacts

Influence

advocating for national and global action on the climate health emergency

Resilience

supporting the health sector to cut emissions and build climate health resilience

Impact

growing our alliance in size and influence

CAHA's key achievements

- We're working with the Commonwealth Government to develop and implement a National Strategy for Climate, Health and Well-being
- Our Global Green and Healthy Hospitals Pacific Network supports over 2,300 hospitals and health facilities across Australia and New Zealand to reduce their environment footprint
- We successfully campaigned for the inclusion of climate change into Australia's National Preventive Health Strategy 2021-2030
- We've convened state and federal health ministers to work together on moving Australia towards climate-resilient, sustainable healthcare
