

24 May 2017

Greg Hunt MP
Minister for Health

Dear Minister Hunt,

Invitation to address the event to launch the framework for the National Strategy for Climate, Health and Well-being for Australia

I'm pleased to invite you to address an event in Parliament House in Canberra to launch the framework for the National Strategy for Climate, Health and Well-being for Australia.

As you may be aware from our recent correspondence, we have been working with a large group of experts, health stakeholders, and policymakers over the last 18 months to develop a framework for a National Strategy on Climate, Health and Well-being for Australia.

We are delighted by the support we have received during the consultation regarding the framework for the National Strategy during 2017, following widespread engagement with the Discussion Paper proposing the Strategy in 2016.

We are very pleased to have Minister Ken Wyatt, along with Shadow Minister for Health Catherine King, and Greens leader and health spokesperson Senator Richard Di Natale, offer to co-sponsor an event to launch the framework in Parliament House at 10am on 22 June 2017.

We would like to invite you, as Minister for Health, to attend and address this event, to outline what the government is doing in relation to climate change and the health and well-being of the Australian community.

Shadow Minister King and Senator Di Natale will also be speaking, as will Nobel Laureate for Medicine, Professor Peter Doherty, who will attend to launch the framework – and provide an overview of its purpose and application.

Please get in contact if you have any questions or require any further information.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Fiona Armstrong

On behalf of the Climate and Health Alliance Committee of Management and National Strategy Campaign Core Organising Group

Campaign supporting organisations as at 23 May 2017.

