CICLAVIA 2019 SEASON PREVIEW: CicLAvia enters its biggest season yet, with events planned every other month. Among the most events it has ever held in a single year, CicLAvia plans to bring the beloved car-free streets tradition to many communities for the first time, including Mid-City, Thai Town, West Hollywood, East Hollywood, Reseda, Winnetka, Canoga Park. It will also make its annual return to its original route, Heart of LA. By season's end, CicLAvia will have also reached a milestone 35 events since 2010.

Since the inaugural CicLAvia event on October 10, 2010, over 1.6 million people have explored nearly 200 miles of car-free streets at CicLAvias. Approaching a decade old, CicLAvia is now woven into the fabric of Los Angeles and looks to bring the region even closer and introduce even more communities to the joy of being together in open streets.

Top line impacts include:

- Participants mirror LA County's ethnicity demographics, representing all age ranges.

- More than 40% of attendees would be at home if not for CicLAvia.
- More than 50% of attendees would be inactive if not for CicLAvia.
- Every route has a different audience, with 40% new attendees at each CicLAvia.
- Local businesses along the CicLAvia routes see sales increase by as much as 57%.
- Air Quality Improved: Particulate Matter 2.5 micrometers and smaller declined by 49% on route.
