The Summit is a first-of-its-kind national gathering of leaders, practitioners, and partners from across Canada's recreation and parks sector—as well as those working in adjacent fields such as health, equity, and climate resilience.

The objective of the Summit is to explore the potential of a collective impact model for the recreation and parks sector while strengthening collaboration, advancing professional development and advocacy, building on the momentum of the Canadian Inclusive Green Spaces Symposium, and developing a shared vision for the sector through the renewed Framework for Recreation in Canada.
