

CLAIM ITEM 2:

Personal Leave

(Additional Days for Mental Health)

1 in 5 Australians experience mental health challenges every year, and almost half of all Australians will experience a significant mental health challenge at some point during their life. Mental health is a legitimate health concern and personal leave clauses must provide for the care of family members, prevention and treatment of mental health issues.

When we speak up together we protect the well-being of one another and the community. Support the campaign for Your Union Agreement 2022, your Personal Leave for Mental Health claim and protect your workplace entitlements. More members means more power – join your union today.
