CASE OVERVIEW

On 8/27/2017, Officers Burns and Stanton were working off duty at the 4th Street N/Broadway Business Beat. They were near the parking lot area of the 4th Street Saloon. Officer Stanton heard gunshots and saw muzzle flashes coming from a maroon SUV leaving the area. Officer Burns got into his squad car and was able to get behind the maroon SUV. The SUV eventually fled from Officer Burns. Officer Stanton stayed at the scene. Neither Officer Burns nor Officer Stanton had their Body Worn Cameras activated. In addition, Officer Burns failed to notify MECC of his off duty employment.

On 8/26/2017, prior to his dogwatch shift, Officer Wolff checked his squad car's (P#76805) Mobile Video Recording (MVR) and found it was not functioning properly. Officer Wolff failed to immediately notify his supervisor of the non-functioning MVR. Later that the night, Officers Womble and Wolff were the second squad car in the pursuit Officer Burns was engaged in. They were involved in a squad accident crashing squad P#76805. There was no MVR recording of the pursuit or the squad accident.

CASE INVESTIGATION

This case was referred to the Office of Police Conduct Review by the Minneapolis Police Department Pursuit Review Committee. On March 19, 2018, I was assigned this case. I reviewed the Pursuit Review report, CAPRS reports, Body Worn Camera video, Mobile Video Recording (MVR) video, and Visinet Reports. I also obtained Off Duty Employment Reports, Minneapolis Emergency Communication Center (MECC) Channel 7 Log, and MECC Part Time Log.

On 8/27/2017, Officer Burns and Stanton were working an off duty job at the 4th St N/Broadway Business Beat. Officer Stanton arrived to the off duty job an hour before Officer Burns. Officer Stanton logged on to the off duty job, Call # 6430, at 0012 hrs.¹ He also contacted MECC and informed them he was working an off duty job.²

At 0101 hrs, Officer Burns logged off from his prior off duty job³ and joined Officer Stanton at the 4th St/Broadway Business beat. There is no record of Officer Burns being logged on to Call # 6430 with Officer Stanton. Officer Burns and Stanton monitor the parking lots of businesses near 4th St N and West Broadway. The parking lots are used by the customers of the 4th Street Saloon. The officer's "primary function is to be a uniformed presence and deterrent for crime in and around the businesses at bar closing."⁴

Officer Stanton and Burns were driving separate squad cars. Officer Stanton was parked in the parking lot⁵ and Officer Burns was parked near 4th Street and 21 Av N.⁶ At 0158 hrs, the 4th Street Saloon was closing and patrons from the bar were coming into the parking lot. Officer Burns and Stanton were on foot in the parking lot.⁷ They were trying to get people to leave the parking lot. Officers Burns and Stanton heard gunshots from the parking lot. People in the parking lot started running away from the sound of the shots. Officer Stanton observed flashes coming from a maroon SUV.⁸ He aired this information on the radio. Officer Burns ran to his squad car, activated his MVR, and followed the suspect vehicle.⁹ Once behind the vehicle, it pulled over to the curb at 4th St N/24 Ave N. Officer Burns activated his emergency lights. The suspect vehicle speed off and fled the scene. Officer Burns pursued the fleeing vehicle through North Minneapolis. The vehicle parked in the alley near 29th Ave N and Humboldt Ave N. The occupants fled on foot from the vehicle. The vehicle pursuit last approximately 1.1 miles¹⁰ and lasted 96 seconds.¹¹ Officer Burns gave chase to the driver, but eventually lost sight of him. Officer Burns held his position in case the suspect doubled back.¹²

Officer Stanton was still at the scene of the shots fired call. The scene was “very chaotic.” People were “screaming and running to their cars” as Officer Stanton checked the scene for victims.¹³ At some point after the shots were fired, someone handed him evidence of discharged cartridge casings which they had found nearby.

Officers Womble and Wolff were working their assigned Dogwatch shift the night of 8/26/2017.¹⁴ They were assigned to Squad 411.¹⁵ Officer Womble and Wolff used squad P#76805.¹⁶ Officer Wolff was the driver at the beginning of the shift.¹⁷ Officer Wolff turned on his Body Worn Camera and checked his MVR. He noted in his CAPRS report, the squad MVR was “not working properly.”¹⁸ On Body Worn Camera Officer Wolff states, “This is Officer Wolff, badge #7895. Our squad computer...our squad recording video is not working. Our MVR is not working. Squad 411. P# 76(inaudible).”¹⁹ Officer Wolff tells Officer Womble²⁰ in the squad car, “It starts, but it shuts off.”²¹

Officers Womble and Wolff were the second car in the pursuit. They subsequently crash their squad car into a tree. Officer Womble was the driver at the time of the crash.²²

DISCUSSION

It is alleged that Officer Burns failed to activate his Body Worn Camera during a pursuit

The Minneapolis Police Department's Policy and Procedure Manual states in part:

- 4-223 BODY WORN CAMERAS (06/29/16) (07/29/17)
(B-D)
- IV. PROCEDURES/ RULES/ REGULATIONS
- E. Activation (07/29/17)
1. Activation Required
- a. Officers shall activate their BWC for the following circumstances:
- i. Upon being dispatched and starting travel to a call for service. This includes assisting squads.
 - ii. When self-initiating a call, as soon as possible but prior to contacting a person or exiting a squad.
 - iii. Prior to taking any law enforcement action.
 - iv. Prior to making an investigatory contact.
 - v. When any situation becomes adversarial.

Officer Burns had a Body Camera affixed to his uniform at the time of the shots fired/pursuit.²³ Officer Burns was not aware of any malfunctions relating to his Body Worn Camera.²⁴ It wasn't until, "probably after the entire incident" Officer Burns realized his Body Camera was not activated.²⁵

Officer Burns stated he had worked the Broadway Business Beat for 15 years. He knows the patrons to have violent tendencies.²⁶ In the past when he was working, there have been three homicides; he was involved in an officer involved shooting, and also he has wrestled five to ten people with guns in their hands.²⁷

Officer Burns stated in his CAPRS report "due to the speed at which the shots fired incident had occurred along with the suspects fleeing the scene in their vehicle officer failed to remember to activate my BWC."²⁸ Officer Burns stated in his interview, "I was concerned with catching the bad guy. Uh, it never even dawned on me at that point [to activate the BWC]. I think we were like one of the last precincts to get the body cameras and half the time I just, we didn't, the policy I believe was you had to turn it on before you went, you know, before you went to a call, you didn't have to have it powered up."

Burns also stated, "My initial thoughts were to catch the shooter and as I'm so familiar with the squad cameras that was second nature to activate the squad camera. It wasn't second nature to activate the body cameras; it was second nature to catch the bad guy."

When the suspect vehicle pulled over, Officer Burns believed the occupant(s) were going to flee on foot or he was going to have to wait for back up.²⁹ Officer Burns exited his squad car. The suspect vehicle sped off. While getting back into the squad car Officer Burns was unable to holster his handgun. He hit his handgun on the steering wheel and "pistol whipped [himself] getting back in the squad, cutting [his] nose."³⁰ Officer Burns said, "I was bleeding all over the front of my uniform shirt."³¹ Officer Burns continued to pursue the suspects in his squad car and eventually on foot.

It is alleged that Officer Burns did not notify MECC of his off Duty Employment.

The Minneapolis Police Department's Policy and Procedure Manual states in part:

3-801 OFF-DUTY EMPLOYMENT (05/09/00) (07/25/01) (03/07/03) (06/10/03)

A. General Policies

11. Officers with marked squads at off-duty work sites shall:

- a. Notify MECC of their work-site location and receive a "call sign" number if one has not already been permanently assigned to that work site

In an interview with Officer Burns, he stated he came from a previous part time job where he was logged on and went to the Broadway Business Beat, Off Duty # 6430. He never logged on to Off Duty #6430, when he joined Officer Stanton. Officer Burns arrived in his own squad car an hour after Officer Stanton had arrived. I asked Officer Burns if he signed on to the Broadway Business Beat and he stated, "I don't believe I did."³² Officer Burns stated he could not log on to his squad computer because Officer

Stanton was already logged on to call # 6430. He had come from a prior part time job and had logged off that job.³³ When he arrived at the Broadway Business Beat he walked through the parking lot and cleared people out of the lot that were hanging out in their cars.³⁴ This was done to prevent an ambush or other problems.

MECC Channel 7 Logs for Dogwatch on 8/26/2017 shows Badge #6762 (Officer Stanton) checking in for Off Duty job # 6430 on 8/27/2017 at 0015.³⁵ The MECC Part Time Line Up for Saturday, 8/26/27, shows Badge #6762 (Officer Stanton) checked in.³⁶ The MECC Channel 7 Log and Part Time Line Up cover Saturday night and Sunday Morning. There is no record of Officer Burns notifying MECC of his Off Duty work site location nor is there a record of Officer Burns signing on to an MDC.

It is alleged that Officer Stanton failed to activate his Body Worn Camera during a shots fired call.

The Minneapolis Police Department's Policy and Procedure Manual states in part:

Officer Stanton wrote in his CAPRS Supplement, “This incident evolved so rapidly that I was unable to find the time to safely turn on my BWC, so no footage was captured by my camera.”³⁷

During an interview with Officer Stanton he stated he was on foot with Officer Burns in the rear parking lot of the 4th Street Saloon during bar close. There were 150 – 200 people in the parking lot. They heard 6 – 8 gun shots. Officer Stanton pulled his gun out. Officer Stanton thought he and his partner were being shot at. Officer Stanton realizes they are not being shot at. He sees muzzle flashes from the suspect vehicle leaving the scene. Officer Stanton airs the vehicle description on the radio. His attention turns towards finding a victim(s) and helping the victim(s), so he runs back to the parking lot. Officer Stanton never found a victim, however he later discovered someone drove the victim to the hospital. Officer Stanton believed everything was “All good.” He stated “well after the fact” that he realized he forgot to turn his body camera on.

The shooting was a “rapidly unfolding call” that was a duration of seconds.³⁸ Officer Stanton was assigned to 5th Pct CRT at the time and had minimal experience using the BWC. Officer Stanton stated, “It is not something that is muscle memory yet for me.” Officer Stanton documented the fact he forgot to turn the body worn camera on in his CAPRS supplement. Officer Stanton stated he was not trying to cover up anything. Officer Stanton stated, “I get this is a very high priority to turn [the body worn camera] on.”

It is alleged that Officer Wolff failed to immediately notify a supervisor of a malfunctioning MVR .

The Minneapolis Police Department’s Policy and Procedure Manual states in part:

b. The officer’s immediate supervisor shall immediately be notified of any missing or malfunctioning MVR equipment. (07/11/07) (08/01/11)

³⁸ Q&A Officer Stanton Page 4 Line 37

Officer Wolff stated in his CAPRS Supplement, "At the start of the shift signing on to the squad it was noted on my BWC that the squad MVR was not operating properly."³⁹ In Officer Wolff's interview he stated he checked the MVR prior to the start of his shift by turning on the emergency lights on to "Code 3."⁴⁰ He discovered the MVR, "turned on, but then it shut off without me shutting it off."⁴¹ Officer Wolff notified Officer Womble, but did not immediately notify his supervisor. It was only after the squad accident Officer Wolff notified his supervisor, Sgt. York.⁴² When asked why he took a squad car with a non-functioning MVR, Officer Wolff stated, "I think the fact that it turned on and shut off there...I thought there was a technical glitch. I wasn't...we weren't really trained on the MVRs. So, if it turned on with the activation of the lights, I thought it was OK to take the squad, so."⁴³

Officer Wolff attended the Minneapolis Police Academy from April 8, 2013 – October 5, 2013. During that time Police Recruits were directed to look at the MPDNET website – Digital Squad Video Training.⁴⁴ This link contains instructions on how to use the MVR. These instructions were in place at the time Officer Wolff entered the Police Academy and are currently still on the MPDNET website.
