

We used to trust Wall Street. At least we used to trust that Wall Street was focused on making money. "Greed is Good" was the mantra of Gordon Gekko in the 1987 Oliver Stone movie titled "Wall Street" starring Michael Douglas. Remember that? You might not have agreed with Gekko's approach, but maybe you liked his style. Private planes, fancy clothes, fast cars, a cell phone the size of a brick. Those were the days.

Greed wasn't good. It wasn't good then. It's not good now.

But a profit motive can be good! - Investment profits can provide for retirement, help advance technology, and allow for generosity!

UNFORTUNATELY, IN TODAY'S WOKE WORLD, PROFITS ARE NOW EVIL.

"The problem is that Wall Street hasn't cleaned up its act. In so many ways, it's worse than the greed in days past. At least then, you knew the motive was profit. It was straightforward. But now the motive is hidden behind good sounding things like responsible investing, and ESG – environment, social justice, governance." –Kevin Freeman

⚠ WARNING: THE PROBLEM IS THAT THESE ESG MOTIVES ARE OFTEN ANTI-AMERICA AND ANTI-FAMILY.

We've warned about this for years and we get calls, emails, and letters from viewers who are fed up with what Wall Street is doing. Polling and consumer insight data shows that ESG is not what people want.

Survey results show what they really want:

- They want investments that support their family and their country.
- And they want a decent return so they can have a better life. It's simple.

Sadly, Wall Street no longer cares about those things. They instead, want a cram down a progressive agenda focused on climate change, critical race theory, and the LGBTQ+ agenda.

One of our early viewers, Katherine Novikov, has become a great friend of the Economic War Room® and is part of this week's briefing as we look at the state of the financial advisor industry and ESG. In today's briefing we will discuss what we can do to ensure our investment advisors are fulfilling their fiduciary responsibilities regarding risk and Chinese investments. Katherine sees the need for more NSIC advisors and has stepped up to help us with our mission.

Your Mission: To find a NSIC financial advisor or ask your advisor to become an NSIC advisor and ensure your investments are not supporting ESG, the Great Reset, or the atrocities of China and other communist nations.

Ep. 6-202 (OSINT) Open-Sourced Intelligence Report. This briefing includes conversations with Kevin Freeman and Katherine Novikov in the Economic War Room®.

Katherine Novikov is a Tech/Payments Entrepreneur and the Founder and former CEO of Diamond Mind Inc. Katherine bootstrapped the company from spare bedroom to nation's leading provider of payment processing services and software to K-12 Independent schools. The Company was listed on the Inc. 500 as one of the fastest growing companies. Her accomplishments also recognized her as E & Y Entrepreneur of the Year finalist Facing a health crisis, she fully exited the company in 2016 selling Diamond Mind Inc. to Community Brands. Katherine successfully overcame Hodgkin's Lymphoma, ultimately needing a Bone Marrow Transplant. She now serves as Executive Director of Diamond Mind Foundation, a small family foundation (The Foundation is not related or connected to Diamond Mind Inc). The mission of the Diamond Mind Foundation is to help people see without distortion. An objective made vastly more important by the deceptions in our financial markets, educational, and other institutions.

Kevin Freeman is considered one of the world's leading experts on the issues of Economic Warfare and Financial Terrorism. He has consulted for and briefed members of both the U.S. House and Senate, present and past CIA, DIA, FBI, SEC, Homeland Security, the Justice Department, as well as local and state law enforcement. His research has been presented in critical DoD studies on Economic Warfare, Iran, and Weapons of Mass Destruction presented to the Secretary of Defense and the Under Secretary of Defense, Intelligence. He has traveled extensively with research trips to Russia and China and throughout Europe and the Americas. He is also a Senior Fellow at the Center for Security Policy. Kevin Freeman is a New York Times Best Selling Author.

Successful Entrepreneur, Katherine Novikov, shares her concerns with what she is seeing within our financial institutions today:

Katherine has built and recently sold a successful business. She served our country honorably in the Air Force. She raised a family. She has done many things that our viewers can identify with and is concerned with what she sees happening in America today.

She was originally an audience member who wanted to make a difference and has quickly become a friend, one of the small ships making a difference in America.

Katherine wants her investments to align with her values and she has been passionate in helping with our mission of equipping financial advisors to understand the threat and fulfill their fiduciary responsibility to their clients.

She understands the importance of protecting Liberty, Security, and Values of America and is making a difference! Katherine, Economic War Room thanks you for the work you have done and the work you are doing!

1. Katherine Novikov - An American Success Story and A Small Ship Making a Difference!

A quick review of her background in the military, business, and as a successful entrepreneur.

Her time in The Air Force:

"I entered the military at 18, looking for funds to help me pay for college and for adventure to go out and see the world. Upon completing my service in the military, I finished my college degree, worked for a large consulting firm, and then went on to create a company of my own.

In many ways, I see myself as a very typical person who was fortunate to experience the American dream."—Katherine Novikov

More about her background in the USAF and perspective as it relates to the Communist threat:

- » Katherine served in the Air Force from 1982 through 1986 as a Russian cryptologic linguist.

- » At that time, that was the height of the Cold War and America was really concerned about what the Russians were thinking.
- » Russian relations dissipated for a while. Unfortunately, today we're concerned again with the Ukraine situation.

Lessons In History

Katherine Shares Key learnings from the Cold War.

"I learned a lot of things at that time that I thought would never be relevant to my life."—Katherine Novikov

Katherine was stationed in Misawa, Japan, right before the Soviet Union shot down 007, the Korean airline that flew over the Sakhalin Island.

- » It was the height of the Cold War, and we were all afraid of the Soviet Union, and rightly so.
- » Both training and my informal study took her deep into the ways of the Soviet society, the ways of Maoist China, the tyrannical and deceptive way they manipulated their own citizens and used them.

History Repeats Itself:

- » Katherine shared that all the above was horrifying at the time, yet she was strangely fascinated by it all.
- » It felt that it was something far away and long ago that would never be relevant to her life.

ALERT: Today we are beginning to see these same threats emerge in America and it is frightening. We won the Cold War. We had demonstrated to the world that the liberty approach is the superior approach, but now we're facing those challenges again. It is time for Americans to recognize what is really happening and protect liberty.

2. From the Air Force to Business: Key Learnings Katherine Picked Up in the Business World:

After the Air Force, she was a consultant for a large consulting firm. Katherine learned about structuring work and about providing value as a way of generating profits.

- » A key first principle was to focus on creating value, then profits will take care of itself.
- » There, she had a tremendous experience and learned about teamwork and the importance of having the right values at the top of every organization.
- » All things that she saw reflected in our society and in our culture and in our country at that time.

"You saw the contrast between the evils of communism and the opportunities of America. And that spurred you then to start your business."—Kevin Freeman

After consulting, she saw an opportunity to start her own business.

"I wanted a way to have work life balance at the time when I was getting ready to start a family."—Katherine Novikov

Another key learning - do not be afraid of small beginning's...and even a few failures.

"After a few flops, which I think is par for the course with any entrepreneur, I found the right formula and started a company serving K-through-12 private schools with software and payment services. That company grew from '04 to 2014. We bootstrapped it. We served over 1,200 K-through-12 schools in 48 states."

—Katherine Novikov

The American Dream Still Does Happen, Katherine and her team made it happen!

"It sometimes felt like a fantasy. I mean, not that it wasn't without a lot of struggle and hard work, but that it all turned out that I did achieve the American dream is just extraordinary. And I feel tremendously grateful for that." —Katherine Novikov

“That’s also an amazing American story. Your life has been the kind of things that you would write novels about of starting out just trying to pay for school and then ending up owning and building a very successful business.” –Kevin Freeman

3. Katherine’s Journey to Find Investments that Support Her Family, Her Country, and Her Values – Liberty, Security, and Values.

The Challenge: Katherine was a successful entrepreneur; she sold her business and with that she had some investment money. But she found investing it was not as easy as she anticipated.

“Most of all, I want my investment dollars to go to preserving and protecting the way of life that I’ve had the great privilege as an American to experience. I want to make sure that this country and the Western world, and the world as a planet offers people the opportunity to use their talents to provide value to others, and to do that in a way that allows them to support their family and to raise their children. I want my investment dollars to go to the continued cycle of positive, constructive business activity in the US and abroad.” –Katherine Novikov

Finding a financial advisor that understood those values and concerns was not easy.

The Problem: The great American system of investing and so forth has been weaponized and is taking many Americans in a direction they do not want to go.

What she saw in the Soviet Union and communism is becoming a reality in America today. Americans are losing the opportunity Katherine enjoyed, to build a business and to provide a good service and to help schools or help others in general.

“I have read both of your books and I pay quite close attention to global affairs and national affairs. And I don’t like what I’m seeing at all. People argue over what is going on and what it’s called. It’s not even helpful to worry about what label is on it, but there’s a top-down sort of thinking.

There's a top-down mentality that's permeating the business world, Wall Street's view of the business world, that is completely contrary to the entrepreneurial spirit and even contrary to the principles that are necessary for entrepreneurial activities to thrive." -Katherine Novikov

THINK ABOUT THIS: Are you lucky enough to be an Elite, or will you be mandated an ordinary person?

In Katherine's case, imagine! You're 18, you don't have the money to go to college, so you choose to go into the Air Force.

Katherine served her country, which is awesome. But do you think she would have been picked by elitists if they were looking across – would they have found Katherine and say:

"All right. We're going to help – we're going to allow her to build and make a great business."

How about you? As a reader of this briefing, do you think you will be picked?

In Katherine's case her response was clear,

"Most certainly not. And I had nothing to show for me. I wasn't even a very good high school student. I was rather a weak high school student. That was part of the reason that the military was attractive option for me. I wouldn't have been picked. And yet I believe that, in quite a large number of ordinary people who wouldn't be picked by any kind of elite top-down organization, there's talent, and there are ideas, and there's ingenuity. And that is the basis of our country." –Katherine Novikov

There's something about America that draws out that spirit in people. And that's why people from around the world want to come here. We've benefited from the entrepreneurial spirit of our naturalized American citizens from all over the world.

“We get talents. But what they all share in common, we hope, is a belief in individual liberty, personal responsibility, the opportunity to help others by achieving something great.”—Kevin Freeman

4. Katherine Developed Efficient Payment Systems for Private Schools.

- › Her company helped private schools to consolidate and harmonize their payments across their campus. When she first approached them, they would have in place banks or other financial institutions who just sort of put things in place thinking only about the monetary aspect of it and not thinking about the back-end coordination that would allow for smooth operations on the campus.
- › Her team perceived a way of adding value to help them harmonize and make greater sense, in addition to reducing costs. And that caused truly the floodgates of clients to open for their business.
- › Those services filled a gap in the marketplace that helped the parents and the schools!

Without a service like Katherine’s, private schools find it difficult to compete in a modern marketplace.

WARNING – BANKING AND THE CANCEL CULTURE: Today, we’re seeing this whole ESG movement with a cancel culture, literally saying, “We don’t agree with what you believe, we cut you off! No banking services for you.”

“That is terrifying me. And it’s not just being threatened in our country, we saw it happen in Canada. The idea that an organization can be cut off from its lifeblood of financial services because its views don’t align with the extreme ideological views that are disguised by the nice-sounding ESG is just terrifying and threatens to undermine everything about our business environment in this country.”—Katherine Novikov

“Katherine, one of the things I’ve learned about you is that you have a deep respect for other people. You have a deep respect for different people who have varying belief systems. You believe passionately in an individual’s opportunity to learn and develop their own values, which I think is amazing.” –Kevin Freeman

5. There is Power in Diversity and Religion.

Katherine shares her perspective regarding the world’s large religions - they don’t all have truth, but you find beauty in the wisdom of different cultures.

- › They’re organic. They were not dreamt up by academics sitting around in conference rooms as some of the modern theories of the world are.
- › The world’s great religions grew organically in different cultures amongst different people.
- › In certain ways, there is beauty and wisdom in all of them. Katherine has, through her life, enjoyed studying and learning from them.

“I don’t think that they all contain eternal truth. As a Christian, I believe that eternal truth is only found through Christ. But that doesn’t mean that there isn’t valuable wisdom to be found in Hinduism, Buddhism, Confucianism, and other organic worldviews that sprung from human beings.” –Katherine Novikov

DIVERSITY IS NOT ABOUT IMPOSING WOKE IDEOLOGY ON OTHER COUNTRIES.

Katherine had the opportunity to live in Japan. She had the opportunity to study other cultures. She found absolute truth, which is awesome. But the idea then that you can superimpose – “Well, I’ve decided this is truth and absolute truth, and I’m going to impose that on everybody,” is foreign to what Katherine believes.

“I lived in Japan, I lived in Russia, I lived in England, I lived in France. I’ve traveled and worked throughout the former Warsaw Pact nations and in the Far East. And I’ve made friends. I married a Russian man and made friends from all different countries.

And the idea that (what people are calling) the 'liberal world order' has the right to impose this woke ideology on other countries in the name of top-down homogenizing is just – it's just horrifying. It's the absolute opposite of diversity. It's culturally crushing, it's culturally annihilating, and that anybody goes along with it is just really mind boggling to me." –Katherine Novikov

6. How to Invest to Make the World a Better Place, Real Solutions!

Regarding investing aligned with values, Katherine, is starting a campaign to help advisors understand what they are doing may not meet their fiduciary responsibility.

"I've got the letter here that you've been working on to send to your investment advisors. And it's a beautiful letter. It is four pages printed out." –Kevin Freeman

Below is a shortened summary of what she wrote and what she wishes her financial advisor and others would understand is below:

"What I tried to explain in that letter to them firstly is that I've been having less than fruitful conversations about my values over time with them. And as a result of those less than fruitful conversations, I decided I had to put it in writing." –Katherine Novikov

Katherine's key points:

ESG, to me, is first and foremost inconsistent with my Judeo-Christian values. It advocates for a view of the human being that is just completely contrary to the Christian view and completely contrary to most major world religions' view of the human being.

Secondly, ESG is dangerous to our national security. ESG is supporting businesses who are, in a sense, selling out our country for the sake of profits to China and to other countries who are not our friends. It's allowing countries to seem virtuous when in fact they're using slave labor in these countries.

It's allowing countries to seem virtuous when they're building their product off the devastating environmental practices by other countries. So, it's hypocritical and it's dangerous to our national security.

“When you say China, no one has anything against the Chinese people. I mean, you’ve lived in multiple cultures, you’ve lived in Japan and in Eastern Europe and so forth. But the system, which you studied in detail when you were at the Air Force, the CCP system, the repressive nature of it. I don’t think you can talk human atrocity more than live human organ harvesting, which is taking place against the Uyghur Muslim people and the Falun Gong and others in China. I mean, that is evil personified.” –Kevin Freeman

THINK OF IT THIS WAY. I just invested in a company with slaves, I do not own slaves, so I am OK. Really???

“When I think about how we are having conversations, as a nation, about how to make up for what was done during slavery. I think about that and then my next thought is how will we ever make up for what we are enabling in China? It is so much worse.” –Katherine Novikov

ATTENTION: We’re enabling it with our own investment dollars and looking the other way.

Today that is the equivalent, of saying, “Hey, I only invested in slavery. I didn’t own the slaves.”

That would fly not fly as an argument today, but that is what we are doing.

“Yet good people, nice people I know, other soccer moms and dads who I’m on the side of the soccer field, with are thrilled with their returns and don’t really look or care to find out what’s going on behind those returns. ESG serves as a kind of veneer that makes them feel good about how their money is being used. When in fact, if they looked closely, they would think very differently.” –Katherine Novikov

7. The Awakening Moment and Why America Needs an Economic War Room to understand what is really happening!

Katherine describes her awakening moment:

- » I think for me, because I have paid close attention to international affairs for the past five years, it's been kind of gradual.
- » Honestly, reading your (Kevin Freeman's) books was very eye opening to me and brought it all to a head.
- » I think that my background allowed me to understand both of your books in a way that many others may not have understood as quickly.

Note: Kevin Freeman's book, Secret Weapon, was originally written for the intelligence community. Katherine was part of the Electronic Security Command during her time in the military and her last year in the military was at the National Security Agency.

"Perhaps that gave me a little bit of an advantage to understanding them. But I think it's an understanding we need to help bring to everybody because it's so critical to the safety and security of our country and our children's future and our grandchildren's future."—Katherine Novikov

8. A Conversation with an Investment Advisor - What You Should Consider.

Katherine tried to have a conversation with her investment advisor with little response. That is what prompted her letter.

Kevin Freeman shares his perspective: "As an Investment Advisor. I'm an older guy. I've been in this business since 1981. We were taught from day one, serve the client needs."

- » Find out what your client's needs, wants, and desires are and find a way to invest and give them the best possible way to provide for their retirement or send their kids to college, or help them buy their dream home, or whatever.
- » It is so foreign to me, the idea to exclude that and say, instead we're going to take this radical World Economic Forum view of things and we're going to entice you and then later force you to be part of it.
- » It just blows my mind that financial advisors don't start with the client - what they want.

"It blows my mind too, and it makes me feel that it's almost a form of narcissistic abuse by the financial industry. We'll tell you what's best for you. We'll tell you what your values should be. It's real upside-down world."

–Katherine Novikov

9. Ask Your Financial Advisor to Join the NSIC.

What if your advisors don't listen? What if they say, "We've heard you, but we don't care." What do you do?

Ask your advisor about these issues identified above in this Economic Battle Plan™. Are you invested in China, what are they really doing with ESG investments?

You can expect several possible responses:

- » They may say, "I am interested in what you are asking about and would like to learn more about the NSIC."

Or

- » They may say, "We heard you and we don't care."
- » They may also say, "We heard you and we don't want your business."

All are possible. Really odd and strange things are happening in the financial industry today. But in either of the second two cases, if they can't meet your needs, it is time to find another financial advisor.

10. The Diamond Mind Foundation is helping to make a difference and get more NSIC financial advisors trained through a unique scholarship program.

"We are thrilled we are through our small family foundation in what the NSIC is doing to train those advisors. Because I'm not the only person that's going to need an advisor." –Katherine Novikov

“It’s shocking to me how many people say, “My advisor doesn’t care. They’re not listening. They won’t think this way.” But then the challenge becomes, where do I find an advisor who will listen? We started the NSIC Institute, but you’ve been one of the small ships that has stepped up to say, “Look, I want to do my part.” –Kevin Freeman

“I’m thrilled to see how you see a need and you’ve filled it and you’re filling it. And through our foundation, we want to be one of those small ships. We want to do our small part to kind of put the wind in your sails.” –Katherine Novikov

Katherine shares how the NSIC scholarship works:

- » We’re announcing a scholarship for five investment advisors to be selected through an essay contest to get a full ride to the Liberty University NSIC Investor Training Program.
- » We hope to do this on an ongoing basis and to, in some small way, help to develop this stable of advisors for whom there is such a great need out there.
- » The need is great now and the need is going to grow exponentially as the reality of what’s going on in our country starts to become obvious to more and more people.

Katherine is a small ship doing her part to save those stranded on the financial beach surrounded by woke Wall Street. She is an American hero.

If you’re a client and you want to invest. You’ve woken up to the dangers and the evils of ESG, and you want to invest with a good financial advisor, then you also need our battle plan. You can get those Economic Battle Plans™ at www.economicwarroom.com.

Why Should You Care?

- » ESG is a potential threat to individual liberty and the American way of life.
- » What Katherine saw in the Soviet Union and communism during the cold war is close to becoming a reality in America today.
- » Good people are making nice returns and may not realize what they are funding.
- » “ESG serves as a kind of veneer that makes them feel good about how their money is being used. When in fact, if they looked closely, they would think very differently.”
- » Your investments could be working against your values and against America.
- » There is a way to find an advisor that can align your investments with your values.
- » Financial Advisors need to understand their fiduciary responsibility as it relates to ESG and China investments.

Action Steps:

1. Ask your advisor to sign up for the NSIC class at Liberty University and become part of the NSIC Institute.
2. Update your advisor on your concerns as it relates to the bullet points if they apply to you:
 - ESG is inconsistent with my Judeo-Christian Values.
 - ESG is dangerous to our national security.
 - It's allowing countries to seem virtuous when they're building their product off of the devastating environmental practices by other countries.
3. Review the summary points of Katherine expressed to her financial advisor and consider having a conversation with your financial advisor. If they are not open to aligning your investments with your values put them on notice and find an NSIC advisor.
4. Scholarship opportunities are available for five highly qualified Investment advisors at <https://diamondmindfoundation.org/scholarship/scholarship>
5. With market uncertainty is it important to have a financial advisor the understands the geopolitical landscape. If you have a financial advisor, now is a good time nominate them for the NSIC Institute and our 'solutions and action tank.'

Make sure your financial advisor has your values and interest at heart. Make sure they really understand what ESG investments mean for our future. Suggest that they become part of the NSIC institute and nominate them to participate in our online certification at EconomicWarRoom.com/advisor . Our next NSIC classes start in October at Liberty University.

6. Financial Advisors go www.NSIC.org. Be sure to sign up for more information at <https://www.nsic.org/nominate.html>

If you do not have a financial advisor, now is a good time to get one. We will publish a list soon of NSIC advisors who have participated in the training and elected to become part of the NSIC Institute.

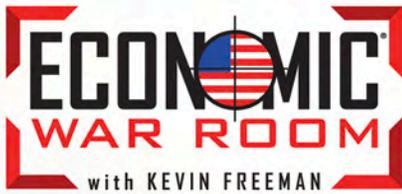

Join us weekly in the Economic War Room®. We are building new solutions with thought leaders that come through our doors every week. Understanding the geopolitical landscape and threats against your money, your livelihood, and your way of life will allow you to be better prepared as the Great Reset is waged against America. Be sure to sign up for our weekly updates at <https://www.economicwarroom.com>.

ATTENTION: Again, if you have not contacted your financial advisor, it is time to make it happen! If you don't have an advisor, it's time to consider getting one.

Weaponize your money toward principles that support Liberty, Security, and Values (LSV). You control your giving, spending, and investing. Nominate your financial advisor to attend our NSIC online training at Liberty University.

- Investing. We suggest you get a like-minded financial advisor. We've done surveys and a clear majority of investors want an advisor who matches with their political and cultural beliefs. Unfortunately, Wall Street is pushing for you to just take what they offer in order to force a leftist agenda on you.
 - o "If your advisor isn't willing to match your investments with your values, send them to us for training and education. If they won't do that, I can promise you that there are lots of other advisors looking for new clients."
-Kevin Freeman
 - o If you are following Economic War Room® you will be on the leading edge as it relates to global threats, geopolitical analysis, and how you can weaponize your money to strengthen America. Your money, livelihood, and way of life are at risk and these tools are designed to mobilize America to protect their economic liberty.

In the Economic War Room®, we encourage Americans to be the “small ships that make the difference.” You cannot solely rely on the government or the president to solve America’s problems. You have to make a difference. It is up to you to help take our country back and create a voice for economic liberty. [The small ships are based on Churchill’s Operation Dynamo that rescued the British Expeditionary Forces in the Miracle of Dunkirk.
