

Before switching fully into holiday mode, can you take 15 minutes for two simple and significant actions?

We believe 2023 can be the year Canada finally turns its act around. Your voice is needed to make it happen!

1. Call for action at COP15

We have a letter all ready for you to send to COP15's Executive Secretary, Elizabeth Maruma Mrema. You can edit it as you like and we'll send it, with a copy to Prime Minister Justin Trudeau, Environment Minister Steven Guilbeault, your MP, and your Premier.

The letter calls on Canada's elected leaders to match their words with action, prioritize Indigenous rights, set bold targets and commit to them. It's being endorsed by parent groups around the world.

Make sure your message reaches those who are making decisions shaping our kids' futures. Send your message here

2. Send your MP a holiday card calling for a cap on oil and gas emissions

Visit the All I Want website to choose one of the heartwarming designs - like this one of Santa "capping" emissions - and we'll look after the printing and delivery via Canada Post!

A cleaner, more liveable future for our kids is on the wish list for parents everywhere - and that starts with lower GHG emissions. Right now, the federal government is drafting regulations to set an emissions cap for the oil and gas industry. It's a huge opportunity to finally bring down emissions and start meeting crucial targets on the path to net-zero.

The industry pushback on an emissions cap is strong and influential. But parents, grandparents, aunties, uncles and all who care for kids have voices too, and we have an easy, festive way for you to share yours!

Three easy steps:

- choose your postcard
- write your message
- share with your networks

We'll take it from there and make sure it gets delivered!

Or, you can download and print a design and customize your message. You (and your kids) can even create your own design and message. Everything you need is on the website, including more info about what an emissions cap is and what it could do.

Send your postcard now, to make sure it reaches your MP before the holiday break.

Thanks for taking action for your kids. Remember you can always reach us, your FOK national support team, at hello@fourkids.ca with your questions or comments.
