

Over 80% of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people support Yes

On Saturday 14 October, Australians will have the opportunity to vote Yes to recognising Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people in the Constitution through a Voice.

This referendum is a request directly from Indigenous Australians that has been decades in the making. It is supported by more than 80% of the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community.

The Voice won't make new laws, control funding, or sit in the houses of Parliament – it will simply be a committee that provides informed advice to Government on issues that affect Indigenous Australians.

Vote Yes on 14 October.

Together, for a better future.

The referendum is about straightforward ideas and practical solutions:

RECOGNISING

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people in our Constitution through a Voice.

LISTENING

to advice from Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people about matters that affect their lives, so governments make better decisions.

BETTER RESULTS

for Indigenous health, education, employment and housing, so people have a better life.

When we listen to people about the decisions that affect them, we get better results.

“When you involve people, you make better decisions and the money you spend goes where it’s needed the most – to the people on the ground.”
