Funders Together
FOR HOUSING JUSTICE

Solicitation Policy

Funders Together represents a community of grantmakers committed to housing justice and appreciates the value of curating funders-only convenings free from solicitation. While some Funders Together program attendees are also grantseekers (e.g., community foundations, funder intermediaries, funder collaboratives, and United Ways), Funders Together programming should not be used as a vehicle for fundraising.

We also hold ourselves accountable to grassroots/policy organizing and frequently platform movement leaders in programming, such as webinars and conferences. Because of this value, Funders Together programming may include speakers vocalizing their resource needs.

On rare occasions, Funders Together reserves the right to leverage our audience with philanthropy to position specific funding opportunities. In those instances, we employ the strategy screen delineated in our policy framework and adhere to our commitment to becoming a pro-Black, pro-Indigenous, and pro-LGBTQIA+ organization. Funders Together will clearly articulate in our communications when programming includes an explicit funding ask.
