December Prevention Webinar

Preventing Youth Homelessness Series: Interrupting Incarceration

Wednesday, December 13th, 2023 | 2:00pm ET, 1:00pm CT, 12:00pm MT, 11:00am PT

Youth involved in the legal system are much more likely to experience housing insecurity. In turn, youth who are homeless are much more likely to be incarcerated. These facts are so well documented that they're truisms. What's less established is how we interrupt carceral cycles so that homelessness is never the result for young people in the legal system.

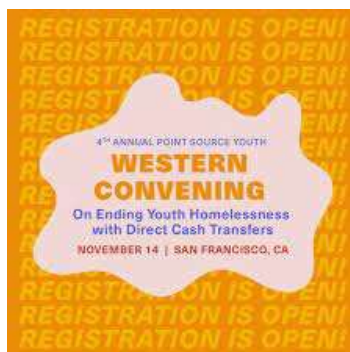

Continuing a series of webinars on preventing youth homelessness, this edition will examine the promise of Housing Stability for Youth in Courts (aka H-SYNC), a Washington state navigation program supporting young people in the juvenile court system who are at risk of homelessness.

We will learn from its designers both to envision replication across the country and to use H-SYNC as an entry point to broader conversation about disrupting carceral systems for youth homelessness prevention. We hope funders leave challenged to fund advocacy and programs that get at the root of injustice.
