

Study Opportunity for Patients with Inflammatory Bowel Disease (IBD)!

“An exploration of how health care professionals assess and support sleep and fatigue in a pediatric IBD population”

This study is to learn about what sleep and feeling tired is like for young people with IBD.

Participating in the study would be completing a one-time secure online survey that we expect will take 10-20 minutes. You can fill the survey out at home on your own phone or computer. The survey will ask you questions about yourself, your IBD, sleep, and feeling tired. Participating is voluntary and you can stop at any time. The choice to participate or not participate does not impact your care with your doctor.
