Call to order 7:05.

1. Update on request for membership information
 - a. Four members (Kamnoosh Shahabi, Shayan Moin, Merhdokht Hadi, and Babak Payami) of the organization have asked for the private information of members.
 - b. Ms. Ghasemi consulted the Privacy Commissioner to analyse these claims in view of the ICC's obligations to protect member's privacy according to Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (PIPEDA) according to Section 7 of the ICC Bylaws
 - c. The Privacy Commissioner and legal advice informed Ms. Ghasemi that since the ICC's bylaws explicitly references PIPEDA the organization is under the obligations of PIPEDA to protect the information of its members and so the board should not provide the private information of members to the four individuals, unless each member provides the organization with his/her consent. If consent obtained, we shall then be allowed to disclose the information of the members who consented.
 - d. Several members of the board express that our organization is a unique organization that is neither selective nor exclusive. It is open to all Iranian Canadians. However, at the same time there exists significant divisions within the Iranian Canadian Community, which makes Privacy an extremely important matter for our membership, which is why PIPEDA was introduced to begin with.
 - e. All present members of the board with the exception of Mr. Shirazi agreed that the members' privacy in accordance with PIPEDA should be protected and members' information should not be disclosed to other members or third parties, unless we obtain each member's consent.
 - f. Next week (on or about January 15th), a consent form will be electronically sent to allow those who want to make their information available to members to opt in. A reminder email with the consent form will also be sent periodically, including February.
2. Motion re membership information
 - a. Ms. Ghasemi introduces, Mr. Tafreshi seconds.

“The board agrees that, in accordance with the organization's explicit reference to governance by PIPEDA in Section 7 of its bylaws, that the ICC shall not disclose any private information of members to any party without their explicit consent. Further, the board reaffirms the organization's bylaws that the ICC Secretary is the sole custodian of any information collected, including member's information, by the organization.”
