

Donald Trump's Courage Awakens Lady Justice

On April 4, 2023, for the first time in our history, a former President of the United States was arrested and arraigned. If you didn't see it, you should know that he was dragged before a hostile population already scheming to be his juror/jailers, into a court system where judges are too intimidated to apply the Constitution or the laws, by prosecutors in the mold of Torquemada, Javert, or the Grand Inquisitor (take your pick). Watching the spectacle invited the clear and sober thought: If they could, they would kill him, and not just seek his public humiliation. Why did they really choose to time this atrocity during Easter week?

The charges once revealed, however, make no sense to anyone, including the rabid lawyers on the Democrats' side of our nation's manufactured division. The entire legal landscape, now transformed to a weapon of war, seems unrecognizable in the America of Franklin, Hamilton, Washington, Lincoln, or Roosevelt. But they did know this as the British Empire which they continuously fought. The stars of our fake media proclaimed all week: "We have crossed the Rubicon," meaning doing something from which there will never be a return. And they tell us, they plan even more of these spectacles, in Georgia and Washington, D.C. consisting of equally absurd charges in equally mean and hating venues.

But like in Percy Shelley's famous poem, *The Masque of Anarchy*¹ something unanticipated happened, almost like an out-of-the-blue thunderclap. The President, who was supposed to be humiliated, stood defiant and outlined in detail the eight-year crime spree engaged in by the regime which hates him and his resurgent movement of American patriots². A great protest, you see, has arisen monumentally throughout the land.

No, this will not stand, an awake population emphatically declared, shedding the fear which before had left them angry, yet silent. The great recognition is now taking place: We are many, you are few. Trump's courage is infectious. It spreads and emboldens. By the end of the week, he had surged in the polls to lead the entire 2024 field as Lady Justice, so recklessly demeaned, awakened once again, boldly, in the American conscience. Our enemies, caught unaware, now cower, and hide. Many of them loudly denounced Manhattan DA Alvin Bragg for abject stupidity in bringing these charges.

Something else is also at work now. Billionaire visionary Elon Musk bought Twitter, a key organ, it turns out, of the security state. He gave a crew of real journalists access to that portion of the security state responsible for censoring thought and brainwashing the conforming into raging obedience. The journalists' findings are now coming out³.

There is also a House of Representatives which the people elected to act for them and eliminate this alien security state and war machine from our Republic. President Trump has asked you, as a citizen, to demand that your Representative defund the national security state now and to persist in that demand until it is done.

We have a chance, in this new land, to find justice once again. We have a chance, in this new land, for a Republic dedicated to promoting the general welfare once again, not the central banks, not the financier looting class, not the war machine, not the satanic cults of death. We have a real chance, for the first time in an awfully long time. It will not last long. It demands that we take it. And as FDR said, "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself." Donald J. Trump just showed us that once again.
