LGBTIQ+ Health Symposium 2025

Join us in attending the LGBTIQ+ Health Symposium 2025 about healthy ageing for LGBTIQ+ people. The symposium is brought to you by Northern Sydney Local Health District. It is a free event.

You will hear about community programs, research and lived experience. There is a fabulous line-up of guest speakers and panellists. Program information is available here.

The symposium is being held this Friday 10th October. You can attend in-person or online. To be able to attend, you must register here or by using the QR code below. If you have any accessibility requirements or require an interpreter, please email jemma.clifton@health.nsw.gov.au.

The symposium is being recorded. A copy of the recording will be made available on demand after the event, if you register to attend.

LGBTIQ+ Health Symposium 2025

Healthy Ageing for LGBTIQ+ People

Friday 10th October 2025 • 8:30am to 3:30pm

An inspiring day of learning, discussion, and collaboration as we explore the future of inclusive healthcare for older LGBTIQ+ communities.

Our ageing LGBTIQ+ population has fought hard for the right to exist, and now deserves to be well-supported as they enter later life and aged care services. Further work is needed to address gaps in research, policy, and service delivery. This symposium shines a light on these challenges while celebrating resilience and paving the way for better health outcomes.

HYBRID EVENT – ALL WELCOME.
