

Beaver

They have clear membranes over their eyes that help them to see underwater, like goggles and can hold their breath for up to 20 minutes while working underwater!

beaver

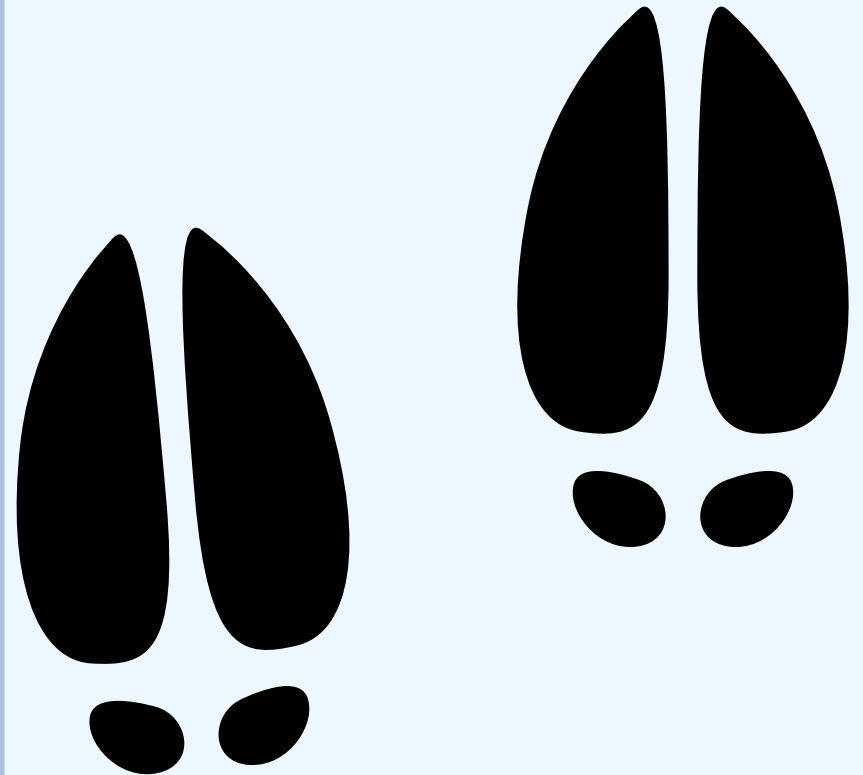

Moose

Whose print?

Their hair is hollow
and helps them float
and stay warm! They are really good
swimmers and can
dive 20 feet
underwater!

moose

Whose print?

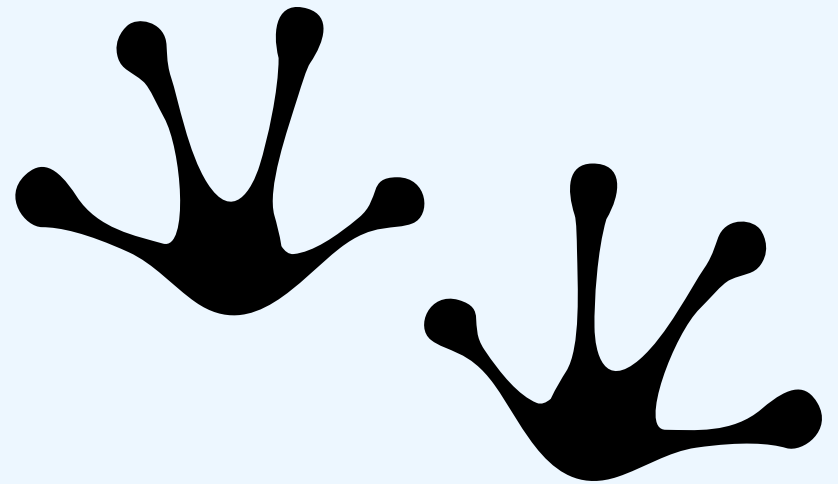

Bear

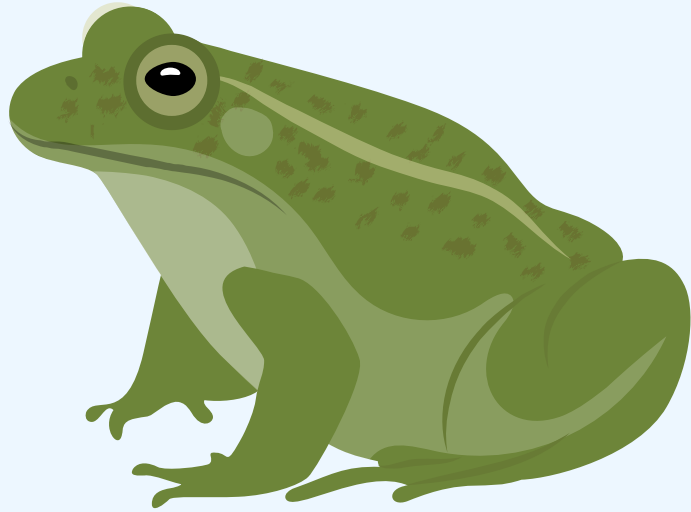

Whose print?

They are omnivores
which means they
eat meat and plants!
They have huge fur
coats to keep them
warm in cold winter
months!

bear

Whose print?

Frog

They use
camouflage to
survive in the wild
and they hibernate
in the winter!
Some frogs are
poisonous!

frog

Fox

They make 40
different sounds like
howls, barks,
screams, and high
pitched tones!
They are very good
at hunting at night!

fox

They have very good eye sight and
are very good
hunters! They hunt
at night and catch
mice and other
small animals!

owl

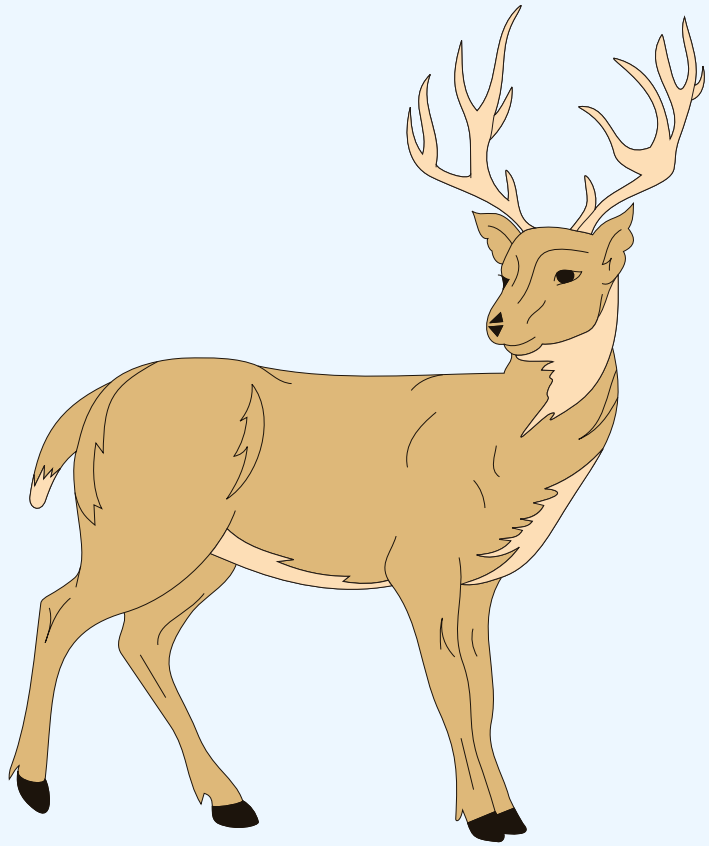

Whose print?

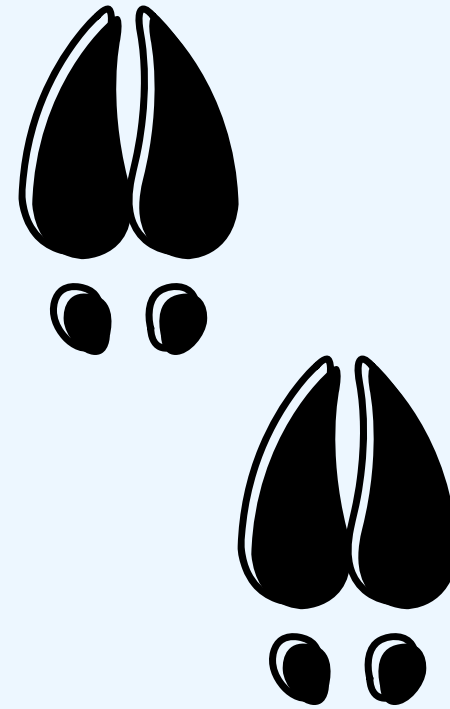

Owl

Whose print?

Deer

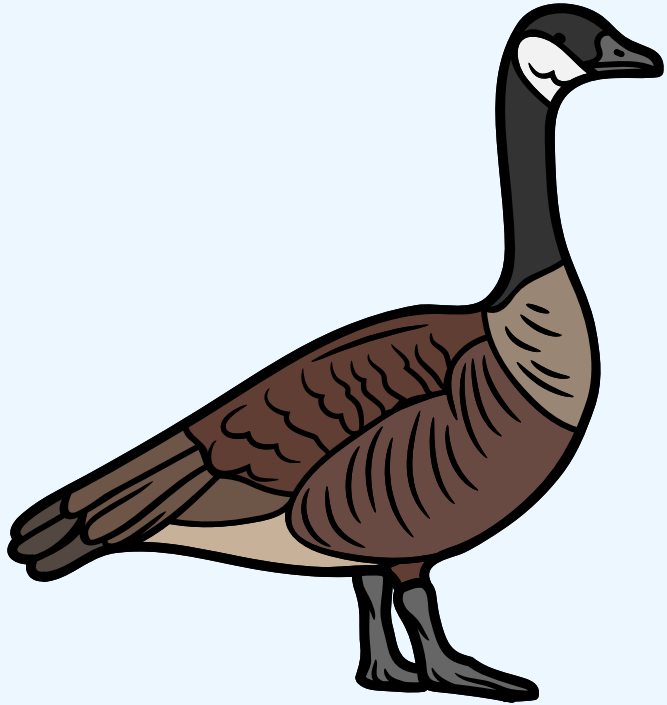

Whose print?

They have really
good hearing and
sense of smell. They eat plants and
berries and vegetables! Boys are called bucks and
girls are called does!

deer

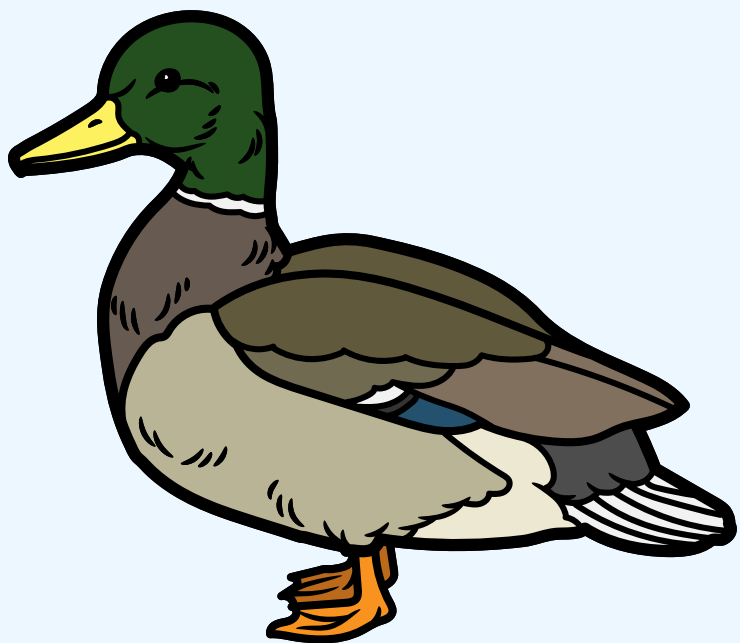

Whose print?

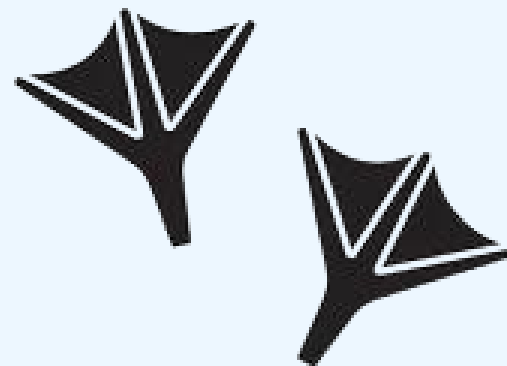

Goose

They fly in groups in a V shape! Canada
Geese are the biggest geese in
the world! Baby
geese are called
goslings!

goose

Duck

Whose print?

They live in places
with water like ponds
or lakes! They can sleep with one eye
open! They have
waterproof feathers
too!

duck

Whose print?

Squirrel

They bury their food
in places called caches. They bury food in lots of
different places and
forget about some of them which helps
plant trees!

squirrel