

Immigration in America Today - Danger on the Southern Border?

We will learn about U.S. history of immigration in terms of inclusion and exclusion as well as the history of America's border. We will learn the facts about the economic case for immigration, the politics of immigration in the Trump era, today's politics of expanding the wall along the southern border and how to change the narrative around immigrants in America today.

John A. Gronbeck-Tedesco is Associate Professor and Convener of American Studies at Ramapo College of New Jersey. He is the author of the book, Cuba, the United States, and Cultures of the Transnational Left, 1930-1975 (Cambridge University Press, 2015) and co-editor of Screening Images of American Masculinity in the Age of Postfeminism (Lexington Books, 2015). His writing has appeared in American Quarterly, Journal of Latin American Studies, Washington Post, and several other web publications. He is currently working on a book about Cuban refugees.

Hanna Siegel is the Managing Director of New American Economy (NAE), a bipartisan coalition of business, civic, and cultural leaders in all 50 states dedicated to making a case for smart, sensible immigration reform. Before her time at NAE, Hanna worked as an Associate Producer for ABC News, working on the Domestic News Desk, World News, and in the Investigative Unit. She has a Master's degree in Public Policy from the Harvard Kennedy School of Government and a Bachelor of Arts from Duke University. She currently lives in Brooklyn and is originally from Rochester, New York.

April 11th, 2019

Time: 7:30pm to 9:30pm

Temple Beth-El

67 US Highway 206
Hillsborough Township, NJ 08844

Free and Open to the Public
Walk-Ins welcome

RSVP in advance at www.nfrpp.org

Co-Sponsors:

