

MARANGA MAI!

Rise up to win a quality public health system that is patient and whānau centred with the necessary political and resourcing commitments needed to address the crisis permanently, across the whole health sector.

- A political commitment to the NZNO view of a quality public health system
- Te Tiriti is actualised within and across the health system
- Fix pay and conditions equitably across the health system to reflect health workforce values and expectations
- Fix the number of people in nursing education and training to meet current and future needs (both recruitment and retention)
- Fix the number of Māori and Pasifika nurses to meet the need
