

CAMBODIA RESEARCH OFFICER

The International Engagement Portfolio is responsible for managing Oaktree's engagement in our partner countries: Timor-Leste and Cambodia. We partner with local not-for-profits to deliver innovative development projects with a focus on education, youth empowerment, and youth participation. We also manage grants and philanthropy work, and domestic political engagement.

As the Cambodia Research Officer, you are responsible for leading research processes within the Cambodia team to create an evidence base for Oaktree's international work, increase the organisations understanding of youth movements in Cambodia and support the team with program activities. You report directly to the Cambodia Program Director and work alongside the Cambodia Partnership Manager, members of the Timor-Leste team and the broader International Engagement Team.

As a Cambodia Research Officer, a typical day might look like:

- Lead in the production of research pieces (such as case studies or articles on Oaktree's partnerships, projects or evaluation processes) within the team;
- Present on the above at conferences or workshops;
- Research youth organisations in Cambodia to contribute to scoping for potential new partnerships and projects;
- Support the Cambodia Partnership Manager with partner organisation capacity building and evaluation trip planning;
- Work with other teams to increase Oaktree's impact.

Who we are looking for:

- Is passionate about international development work and social justice..
- Is passionate about the role of young people in social change.
- Is passionate about building evidence to improve processes and influence others.
- Has initiative and thrives outside of their comfort zone.
- Can work independently and as part of a team.

- Can draw links between small details and the big picture.
- Has excellent written and oral communication skills.
- Has some knowledge of international development theories and processes.

We value will over skill, determination over degrees, and passion over years of experience. So go for it. Put your name forward

Bonus points for:

- Experience conducting research for an organisation.

What you will get out of it:

- Be given the autonomy to lead research processes within the Cambodia (and International Engagement) team;
- Have the support and training to rapidly develop a broad range of skill sets; including in project management and communication;
- Experience working at an international development organisation;
- Build extensive personal and professional networks in Australia and Internationally;
- Have a significant impact on the movement to create a more just world.

TIME COMMITMENT: 15 hours per week (flexible arrangements can be made). | This is a voluntary position.
