Dear Ms. Moir,

RE: Improving accessibility, transparency and engagement at the HCRA AGM

It has come to my attention that this year the Home Construction and Regulatory Authority (HCRA) will be hosting its Annual General Meeting on September 11th virtually, with no opportunity for in-person attendance, as was offered in the past. I encourage the HCRA to reconsider this decision.

The HCRA's Administrative Agreement with the Ministry, along with its General By-Laws, emphasizes accountability, transparency, and public access to information and reporting. Reinstating a hybrid format would demonstrate a continued commitment to inclusive and accessible engagement, ensuring that the public have meaningful opportunities to participate in person.

The AGM is an important opportunity for members of the public to engage directly with the regulator, ask questions, share their experiences, and provide feedback. In that spirit, I also encourage the HCRA to include additional time for the public question-and-answer period to foster open dialogue and transparency.

Please do not hesitate to contact me, as I would be pleased to discuss this matter further.

Sincerely,

Tom Rakocevic
