Dear Anna,

In this Issue:

FERC & the GTN XPress Pipeline. Waste Reduction Workshop. Rumble on the River Action Night.

THE FERC APPROVED TC ENERGY'S GTN XPRESS PIPELINE...

WE ARE FIGHTING BACK

The FERC Approves the GTN XPress Pipeline

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) approved TC's Energy GTN XPress Pipeline. The GTN XPress Pipeline, if built, will transport oil from British Columbia through Washington, Oregon and Idaho, landing in California. We cannot continue to invest in fossil fuel infrastructure when the climate crisis continues to worsen. We are joining forces with community groups and organizations to oppose the FERC decision to approve this dangerous and unhealthy pipeline

Anna, can you join us and sign the petition and support the opposition to FERC's decision?

Take Action

RUMBLE ON THE RIVER #10

Community Forum and Action Night

Rumble #10 will be a Community Forum & Action Night.

Goal: Generate Comments to DEQ and Governor Kotek

Plan: Oregon DEQ will soon open the comment period for Zenith Energy's Air Quality Permit. This permit is required for Zenith's continued operations. Public comments have been instrumental in eliminating numerous regional fossil fuel proposals during the past decade.

Willamette Riverkeeper's Urban Conservation Director Bob Sallinger will be on hand to guide us with our letters to Governor Kotek in urging her to take an active role in protecting our environment and the climate. This time, we will combine a shorter-than-usual panel session with a comment-writing workshop. Following the panel, we'll distribute talking points, provide tips for writing effective comments and move into small table groups—and get to writing! Not necessary, but feel free to bring your laptop.
