

Keep our transport public to keep Tassie moving

I _____ the candidate for _____ believe Tasmanians deserve a functional public transport network
- one that is safe, reliable, and there for everyone.

If elected, I pledge to use my voice in Parliament to:

Stop any plan to sell off our transport network and keep it in public hands for good Privatisation doesn't work. It leads to higher fares, reduced services, and cuts to wages and conditions of essential transport workers.

It's used by governments as a cost-shifting exercise and does nothing to address the real issues on the ground.

Preserve our existing rail corridors for future transport use

Our rail corridors are essential to future-proofing our transport network – they are key to connecting our growing state. Once they're gone, they're gone for good.

Invest in a strong, publicly owned transport network to keep our communities connected

Instead of selling off our public assets' government should focus on:

- » Steadily increasing transport funding to bring Tassie in line with other states
- » Grow our bus fleet beyond the city to reach more of our communities
- » Clean up our aging bus infrastructure
- » Explore alternative transport options, such as light rail on the Northern Suburbs Transport Corridor to get people around our bustling city

I will advocate within my party and will use my vote in parliament to honour this commitment.
