

Heather Moorcroft

Manager – Planning and Adaptation

"I feel privileged to be able to support communities in their caring for country and conservation efforts. Knowing that your work makes a positive difference to people's lives and the environment is rewarding. Working with the dedicated and genuinely committed team at Conservation Management makes it even more satisfying."

Based at Jervis Bay, New South Wales, Heather has over 30 years' experience working in conservation and supporting caring for country. She has been instrumental in the development of the Healthy Country Planning process – a community-based adaptation of the Open Standards management framework. She has extensive experience in all aspects of protected area, conservation and natural and cultural heritage planning and management.

Heather is experienced in working with the public and private sectors; government, not-for-profit, Indigenous-owned, and corporate organisations. Her proven ability to deliver customised accessible products to achieve positive environmental and social outcomes makes her a leader in her field.

Heather specialises in:

managing Open Standards and Healthy Country Planning projects for Indigenous communities and ranger groups | protected area planning, management and evaluation | strategic planning for natural and cultural heritage management | consultation and facilitation | capacity building, mentoring and training

hmoorcroft@conservationmanagement.com.au

0401 414 732

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/heather-moorcroft-7b327a39/>

Adaptive land + sea management with those who care about the future.

We work with:

Indigenous Groups | Natural Resource Managers | Government Agencies

Non-Government and Not for Profit Organisations | Funding Groups | Pastoralists and Mining | Collaborative Projects