

ENGAGING JEWISH YOUTH TO FACE TOMORROW'S CHALLENGES

WHAT THEY DO:

- Learn and engage in WJC core focus areas, including combating antisemitism, Holocaust legacy, supporting Israel, online hate, and more.
- Create and implement a unique work plan, focused on making positive change in their local Jewish community
- Receive access to high-level speakers, events, and opportunities through the World Jewish Congress networks.
- Attend an intensive training seminar in New York City
- Visit International Institutions and meet Jewish communities across Europe

REQUIREMENTS:

- Commit to a one year Fellowship, from August to August
- Current enrollment in an institution of higher education or membership in a Jewish student union
- Demonstrate leadership capacity
- Apply with two references and a CV

“

WJC has made me a better leader on my campus and beyond. This fellowship has equipped me with knowledge and skills, mentors, and a network of other passionate students—with whom I've collaborated on international initiatives

- Zach Milewicz, Washington University in St. Louis (USA)

WHERE THEY'RE FROM

