Additional Convention Rules

The NEB established a set of additional meeting procedures for this Convention.

The new meeting procedures are as follows:

1. Sergeants-at-Arms will be stationed at all entrances and will be responsible for ensuring that only delegates, special delegates, equity delegates, special guests and staff are allowed to enter the convention floor. Observers are required to be seated in the designated Observer section, but a local union may permit its registered observers to sit with their local union's delegation.
2. Delegates who wish to speak on an issue or address delegates will present themselves to a floor microphone. Lining up in advance or saving a spot in a microphone line-up for another person to speak at a later time will not be allowed, with the exception of accessibility requirements.
3. Individuals seated at the head Convention table, including members of the National Executive Board and special guests, shall not display or wear promotional materials or clothing associated with any election campaigns. This does not apply to declared candidates.
4. Persons employed by the union, including national representatives, coordinators, support staff or other individuals under Unifor employment, shall not display or wear promotional materials or clothing associated with any election campaigns while on premises of the Convention Centre. This does not apply to declared candidates
