

The Carol Fulks Hospitality University Award for Excellence in Tourism Advocacy

The Hospitality University Awards Committee is seeking nominations for the Excellence in Tourism Advocacy Award which recognizes an individual or group of individuals who have achieved success in advocating for legislation at the local, state, or national level.

The nomination should include an individual or group of individuals who have achieved success in advocating for legislation at the local, state, or national level. This can include lobbying efforts or leadership from an elected official. Nominees must be affiliated with a West Virginia tourism business, organization, or educational institution with a tourism track.

The awards will be bestowed at the Hospitality University Conference at the Greenbrier on February 27, 2024, during the closing luncheon. (Additional information and pages may be attached)
