

Tell Kroger:

Get Toxic Pesticides Out Of Its Food

o + o

Our kids and families deserve safe and healthy food, but new tests reveal that Kroger is selling cereal, apples, applesauce, spinach and beans with pesticides linked to serious health impacts including cancer, Parkinson's disease and brain damage. These toxic pesticides include glyphosate, neonicotinoids and organophosphates, which are linked to widespread bee and butterfly declines, too.

That's why nearly half a million people have signed petitions and thousands of people coast-to-coast are swarming Kroger stores Feb. 23-26.

We're urging it to protect our health and planet by not selling food grown with these toxic pesticides and making more organic food available for all of us!

Learn more and take action at
www.beeaction.org

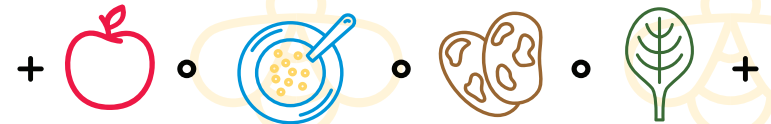

Tell Kroger:

Get Toxic Pesticides Out Of Its Food

o + o

Our kids and families deserve safe and healthy food, but new tests reveal that Kroger is selling cereal, apples, applesauce, spinach and beans with pesticides linked to serious health impacts including cancer, Parkinson's disease and brain damage. These toxic pesticides include glyphosate, neonicotinoids and organophosphates, which are linked to widespread bee and butterfly declines, too.

That's why nearly half a million people have signed petitions and thousands of people coast-to-coast are swarming Kroger stores Feb. 23-26.

We're urging it to protect our health and planet by not selling food grown with these toxic pesticides and making more organic food available for all of us!

Learn more and take action at
www.beeaction.org

